Fluoxetine: Why is this medication prescribed?

Fluoxetine is a selective serotonin reuptake inhibitor (SSRI) used to treat depression, obsessive-compulsive disorder, panic attacks, certain eating disorders (bulimia), and a severe form of premenstrual syndrome (premenstrual dysphoric disorder or PMDD). This medication works by restoring the balance of natural substances (neurotransmitters) in the brain, thereby improving mood and feelings of well-being. This drug has also been used to treat certain other eating disorders (anorexia nervosa), obesity, and depression associated with bipolar disorder.

Sentra PM™* : Why is this medication prescribed?

Sentra PM is a Medical Food product that provides the amino acids that are precursors to the neurotransmitters that have been depleted due to certain disease states or as a result of certain drug side effects. This Medical Food stimulates the body to produce the neurotransmitters that induce sleep, promote restorative sleep, and reduce snoring. Patients with sleep disorders frequently experience a nutritional deficiency of tryptophan and choline. Patients with sleep disorders frequently show reduced blood levels of serotonin and 5-hydroxytryptophan. Choline deficiency has also been associated with sleep disorders, particularly those associated with sleep apnea syndromes.

Sentra PM aids in the nutritional management of serotonin and acetylcholine production deficiencies in patients with sleep disorders and depression.
