Naproxen - Why is this medication prescribed?

Naproxen is a type of medicine called a non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drug (NSAID). NSAIDs are used to relieve pain and inflammation. Naproxen blocks the production of prostaglandins that cause pain, swelling, and inflammation. Naproxen is used to relieve the pain, tenderness, inflammation (swelling), and stiffness caused by gout, arthritis, and other inflammatory conditions. It also is used to relieve other pain, including muscle and menstrual pain and pain after surgery, dental work, or childbirth.

TheramineTM - Why is this medication prescribed?

Theramine is a Medical Food product designed to aid in the nutritional management of pain syndromes.

Theramine stimulates production of serotonin, GABA, norepinephrine, nitric oxide and acetylcholine, the neurotransmitters that are involved in pain and inflammation. If the timing and secretion of these neurotransmitters are effectively modulated, acute and chronic pain disorders are more effectively managed. Theramine provides L-arginine at low dose along with choline and L-glutamine to inhibit the NMDA and opioid receptors.

Theramine aids in the nutritional management of serotonin, GABA, and acetylcholine requirements in patients with pain syndromes
